Helena Oprandi

PhD Student in Economics
Department of Economics
University of Southern Denmark

Campusvej 55, 5230 Odense M, Denmark
+45 6550 4330
helop@sam.sdu.dk
helenaoprandi.github.io

Education

2026 – 2029 (expected)	PhD in Economics, University of Southern Denmark, Odense Historical Economics and Development Group (HEDG) Project: The Age of Creativity, funded by the Carlsberg Foundation Supervisors: Karol Jan Borowiecki and Julius Koschnick
2023 – 2025	MSc in Economics and Data Analysis, University of Verona 110/110 cum laude Thesis: Investigating the Financial Effects of Twitter Sentiment Through Machine Learning and Transformers: Evidence from Elon Musk's Tweets
2024	Erasmus+ Exchange, University of Bordeaux Coursework in applied econometrics and data analysis
2020 – 2023	BSc in International Business and Financial Markets, University of Bergamo Thesis: The Aquafil Case: Sustainable Fashion and Business Sustainability

Research Fields

Economic History, Cultural Economics, Industrial Organization, Applied Econometrics

Conferences, Workshops and Summer Schools

Nov 2026	DGPE Workshop 2026, Aarhus University, Knebel (flash talk)
Jul 2026	First ACEI Summer School on Cultural Economics, University of Brescia, Mantua (poster)

Teaching

Autumn 2026	Teaching Assistant, Machine Learning for Health Economics (MSc), University of Southern Denmark

Other Writing

2025 – 2026 Global Fellow, Nottingham Economic Review. Articles:

- "The Geopolitical Portfolio: EU De-Risking, Reshaping Global Capital Flows"
- "Regulatory Powerhouse: How EU Rules Shape Development Finance"
- "Europe's Economic Outlook and Italy's Regional Divide"
- "Digital Sovereignty: Effects of AI on Financial Governance"

Other Experience

2025	Research Administration Assistant, Department of Cultures and Civilizations, University of Verona
2021 – 2023	Import Specialist, Valtex S.p.A., Bergamo

Skills

Programming	R, Python, MATLAB, LaTeX
Languages	Italian (native), English (C1), French (C1), Spanish (B2)

References

Karol Jan Borowiecki
Professor of Economics
University of Southern Denmark

Julius Koschnick
Assistant Professor of Economics
University of Southern Denmark